

INFORMATION ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Siobhan McEvoy-Levy is an Associate Professor of Political Science and Director of the Peace and Conflict Studies Program at Butler University, Indianapolis, USA. McEvoy-Levy's research on youth violence and peacebuilding, post-war reconstruction, and children's human rights is published in a number of scholarly articles and book chapters. She is the editor of, and contributor to, Troublemakers or Peacemakers? Youth and Post-Accord Peacebuilding (Notre Dame, 2006) and the author of American Exceptionalism and U.S. Foreign Policy: Public Diplomacy at the End of the Cold War (Palgrave 2001).

Naomi Head is a Lecturer in Politics at the University of Glasgow and an Honorary Research Fellow at the Institute for Conflict, Cooperation and Security, University of Birmingham. She is the author of Justifying Violence: communicative ethics and the use of force in Kosovo (Manchester University Press, 2012). Her research interests focus on conflict transformation, legitimacy and communicative ethics, and empathy in politics.

Magid Shihade is a faculty member at the Institute for International Studies at Birzeit University, Palestine. His research focuses on modernity, violence, identity, and the anthropology and politics of knowledge. His book Not Just a Soccer Game: Colonialism and Conflict among Palestinians in Israel was published by Syracuse University Press in the 2011.

Erin Daly is Professor of Law and H. Albert Young Fellow in Constitutional Law, Widener University School of Law, Wilmington Delaware USA. She is the author of Environmental Constitutionalism: Implications for Present and Future Generations (Cambridge University Press 2013), with James R. May; Reconciliation in Divided Societies: Finding Common Ground (University of Pennsylvania Press 2006) with Jeremy Sarkin; and Dignity Rights: Courts, Constitutions, and the Worth of the Human Person (University of Pennsylvania Press 2012).