

Authors Biography

Andrea Bartoli is Dean of the School of Diplomacy and International Relations at Seton Hall University. He is the founding director of Columbia University's Center for International Conflict Resolution and also served as a Teaching Fellow at Georgetown University and the University of Siena. As a practitioner, Dr. Bartoli has been involved in many conflict resolution activities as a member of the Community of Sant'Egidio. Among his publications are Negotiating Peace: The Role of Non-Governmental Organizations (2013); Peacemaking: From Practice to Theory (2011).

Mauricio Meschoulam is Associate Professor, International Relations Department, Universidad Iberoamericana, Mexico City. Dr. Mauricio specializes in international and local terrorism, and its psychosocial effects as well as peacebuilding strategies. His most recent publications has focused on such topics as deconstructing discourse about the Arab Spring and organized criminal violence in Mexico.

Ryszard Praszkiar is Associate Professor at University of Warsaw. His research focuses on social dynamics and networks that support profound, peaceful social transitions. His books include Peacemaking: From Practice to Theory (2011).

Jon D. Unruh is an Associate Professor in the Department of Geography at McGill University in Montreal. His research, policy and applied work focus on land and property rights in war-affected countries.

Andrew Yeo is Associate Professor of Politics at the Catholic University of America in Washington DC and a Fellow at the Institute for Policy Research and Catholic Studies. He is the author of Activists, Alliances, and Anti-U.S. Base Protests (2011). His other works have appeared in Comparative Politics, International Studies Quarterly, Peace Review, North Korean Review and Journal of East Asian Studies. His research and teaching interests include international relations theory, international security, social movements, overseas U.S. military presence, East Asia, and North Korea.