

INFORMATION ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Jeylan Wolyie Hussein is an Associate Professor in the College of Social Sciences and Humanities at Haramaya University. His research has focused on dynamics of identity construction and reconstruction in the context of inter-ethnic conflicts with resource underpinnings. Professor Hussein's work on educational, social, political, and identity issues has appeared in the Journal of Asian and African Studies, International Area Studies Review, African Conflict and Peacebuilding Review, and African Identities.

Daniel Lieberfeld is an Associate Professor of History at Duquesne University and directs the program in Peace, Justice, and Conflict Resolution. His writing on negotiation and peacemaking has appeared in International Negotiation, Leadership, Peace and Conflict, Social Movement Studies, The American Behavioral Scientist, and other publications.

Oseremen Felix Irene is a lecturer at Mountain Top University. His current research focuses on building infrastructures for peace in communities experiencing violent conflicts. Dr. Irene also has a strong interest in research involving nonviolent approaches to social change.

Robert K. Beshara is an Instructor of Psychology at the University of West Georgia. He is the co-editor of Fear and Anxiety in the 21st Century: The European Context and Beyond (2015). His research interests include media, consciousness/the unconscious, affect, (political) subjectivity, and Islamophobia.