

INFORMATION ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Chadwick F. Alger is Mershon Professor of Political Science and Public Policy Emeritus, Ohio State University. He has served as President of the International Studies Association and Secretary General of the International Peace Research Association. His research and teaching has focused on (1) the UN system, including participation of civil society organizations, business, local government and parliamentarians, (2) global linkages of local communities, and (3) peace research. His interest in world affairs has roots in service in the US Navy across the Pacific in World War II, and as an intelligence analyst in Naval Intelligence in the Pentagon during the Korean War. His efforts to enable US citizens to become more active, and effective, in the development of US foreign policies motivated him to be a founder of the Columbus, Ohio Council on World Affairs and serve as President of the UN Association of Columbus, Ohio

Yonhyok Choe is Associate Professor in the Department of Political Science, Södertörn University, Sweden. He was a visiting scholar at the University of California, Berkeley, visiting fellow at the London School of Economics, visiting fellow at the East West Center, Hawaii, and visiting professor at the Stellenbosch University, South Africa, and the University of Adam Mickewicz, Poland. He has also taught at the international summer school at the University of Seoul, Hanyang University, and Konkuk University. His major publications include Quality of Life and Subjective Well-being: A comparison of Korea and five west European countries, Voter Turnout and Civics Education, Immigrant Youth and Multicultural Policy in Sweden, Analysing Youth Socialization Process in Sweden: A Network Chart Method and Its Implication, Electoral System and the Representative System, Social Cleavage and Party Support: A Comparative Study of Voting Behavior, Representation and Participation in the Baltic States, and How to Manage Free and Fair Elections. His research interests include political leadership, welfare state, electoral participation, corruption, and political recruitment. His email address is yonhyok.choe@sh.se.

Daniela Nascimento is Researcher at the Peace Studies Group of the Center for Social Studies (Coimbra) and Assistant professor at the International Relations Group of the School of Economics of the University of Coimbra. Her research interests focus on peace studies, human rights, peacebuilding, humanitarian action, especially in the African context. Professor Nascimento has conducted fieldwork in Sudan and Bosnia.

Jake Lynch is Associate Professor and Director of the Centre for Peace and Conflict Studies at the University of Sydney. He is also Secretary General of the International Peace Research Association, having organised its biennial global conference, in Sydney in 2010. He is the author of several books, and many scholarly articles and book chapters, on peace and peace journalism. Before taking up an academic career, he was an international reporter in television and newspapers, and a newsreader on BBC World television. He contributes regular columns and commentary to public media in Australia and around the world.